U. S. Admiral Stresses Need Of Increased National Defense

Tells Congress Increased Navy Needed By U. S.

World Political Conditions Worse Than At Any Time Since 1918

ADMIRAL LEAHY GIVES TESTIMONY

Justifies Expected Statement Of President For Building Of Larger Navy

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The world political conditions both in Europe and the far East "are more threatening than at any time since 1918 and are distinctly worse than a year ago," Admiral W. D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, bluntly told the house naval appropriations sub-committee in testimony made public today.

"The present moment," he added, "is not one when the United States can safely reduce its means for national defense without jeopardizing our national security."

Justify Demand For

Leahy's assertions, released on the eve of President Roosevelt's scheduled message calling for a huge new shipbuilding program, were made in justification of the navy department's demand for increased appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"We must continue," the admiral declared, "to maintain our existing national defense establishments at their highest efficiency and provide those facilities which are still lacking and which are vital to the efficiency of national defense at sea."

"In China a major conflict is in progress involving grave danger to American citizens. The civil war in

Half Billion Navy Bill Is Reported To House

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The house appropriations committee today approved a $553,256,494 navy bill for the fiscal year beginning July 1, the largest navy supply measure since 1921.

The total represented a $26,723,188 increase over current appropriations but a reduction of $11,939,967 under budget estimates.

The measure was reported to the house as congress awaited President Roosevelt's special message later in the week calling for a huge new shipbuilding program for which additional naval appropriations must be made.

Bulk of the increase over current funds was accounted for by $27,363,150 for ship construction, $117,363,150 being made available for the 1939 fiscal year as against $90,000,000 currently appropriated.

Combined with a $20,700,000 allocation for armor and armament, the measure provided $19,422,100 for the laying of two new $70,000,000 battleships, two cruisers, eight destroyers, six submarines and four auxiliary vessels, and $19,841,050 to continue construction of two battleships, three aircraft carriers, eight cruisers and 16 submarines already under way.

Welsh Is Named County Detective

Appointment Is Announced Today By District Attorney Lamoree

ASSUMES DUTIES THIS AFTERNOON

PAUL A. WELSH

Paul A. Welsh, 214 Edgewood avenue, a well known ex-service man of this city, was today sworn in as county detective of Lawrence county for a four year term.

The appointment was made by District Attorney John G. Lamoree, confirmed by Judges W. Walker Bramham and Thomas W. Dickey and Mr. Welsh assumed his duties early this afternoon.

The new county detective is a life-long resident of New Castle. When Troop F was sent to the Mexican border in 1916 he enlisted as a member of Troop F and served throughout the border campaign. In April, 1917, he went to Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., with Troop F and when the cavalry was disbanded he was assigned to the signal corps of the 28th Division. With the signal corps he made an enviable record in France serving until the conclusion of the war.

Camp Commander Four Years

Returning home after his discharge from the army, he interested himself in the work of the Officers Reserve Corps and holds a commission.

Produce Yards Strike Effect To Hit Wide Area

Western Pennsylvania District May Feel Effect Of Pittsburgh Controversy

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17.—A strike in the Pittsburgh produce yard district today threatened to sharply curtail delivery of fresh fruits and vegetables within a 100-mile radius.

More than 500 produce workers were ordered out on strike when an A. F. of L. union and dealers were unable to reach an agreement.

Union officials charged "almost every firm in the yards has been violating its contract" and said an 80-man terminal service has been disbanded without notice.

Denying the charges a dealer spokesman said the yard would be open today for business as usual. Police were on hand to prevent disorders.

Sufficient supply to meet consumer demands for the next three days are on hand, but a serious shortage was expected unless an agreement was reached by then.

The strike will effect an area extending as far as Erie, Canton, O., Charleston, W. Va. and Altoona.

No attempt was made, however, to move tons of fresh vegetables from Pennsylvania railroad cars in warehouses. Dealers threatened to go into court to halt the strike if a settlement is not reached today.

Scout Elopement Theory As Missing Man Has 80 Year Old Wife At Home

(International News Service)
KANE, Pa., Jan. 17.—The mountainous, snow-covered wilds of southeastern McKean county near here today held the secret of an elderly railroad worker and his 18-year-old girl companion, missing for almost a week, while at home the missing man's 80-year-old wife awaited word of his fate.

C. O. Vandermark, father of two adopted children, and Florence Williams, with whom he had been keeping company, disappeared into the woods near the village of Gardeau last Tuesday. Following a search of practically all cabins within the woods by a party of 200, the belief was held today the couple had either perished or had left the neighborhood.

Tracks left by the two, who entered the woods after driving deep into them by automobile, have been

Injuries Fatal To Roy Hinkson

Expires In Jameson Memorial Hospital From Hurts Sustained Late Thursday

FAILS TO RALLY FROM INJURIES

Injuries received late Thursday night, when a light panel-bodied truck, driven by Ben Prosser, of Walnut street, skidded on an icy spot at the foot of State street hill, and crashed into a telephone pole, resulted in the death of Roy Hinkson, aged 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hinkson, of 124 North Crawford avenue, in the Jameson Memorial hospital, Saturday evening at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Hinkson's death has cast a pall of gloom over the younger people of the community, as he was well known and liked.

Failed To Rally

Death resulted from laceration of the brain, which he suffered when the truck hurtled against the pole. In spite of every attention that

Italian Freighter Sends Out 'S.O.S.'

(International News Service)
MANILA, Jan. 17.—"Immediate assistance" was asked by the Italian freighter Ischia in S. O. S. messages heard by radio stations here today.

It was not stated what the Ischia's trouble was, but the vessel gave its position as latitude 18° north, longitude 108°20' east, in the vicinity of Hong Kong. The steamer Chungking was heard to offer assistance.

Woman Claims Self Defense

Defies Detroit Police To Break Down Story In Shooting Of Another Woman

TAKEN TO SCENE OF CRIME SUNDAY

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Jan. 17.—"Cold as a cube of ice," Mrs. Julia Barker, one-time millionaire real estate broker, today defied police to break down her story that she killed her partner in alleged crime Mrs. Edith Mae Cummings, in self-defense.

After remaining on a sit-down strike in a police car for nearly two hours at the scene of the sensational crime Sunday while a crowd of between 1,000 and 1,500 gathered to stare, the 40-year-old mother answered detectives' questions with a cold stare, remarking:

"You're supposed to solve crimes, why bother me?"

Fail To Shake Story

An all-day grilling by police failed to shake her story, she told Mrs. Cummings, also a one-time millionaire real estate operator and author, of the book "From Pots and Pans to Riches" in self-defense.

"I killed her in self-defense," she stated. "We scuffled when she tried

Beaver Jewelry Store Is Robbed

Thieves Enter Through Broken Skylight—Loot Is Reported Worth $2,000

(International News Service)
BEAVER, Pa., Jan. 17.—A wire dangling from a broken skylight today offered authorities their only clue to the robber who early yesterday looted the Kuhnman Brothers' jewelry store of $2,000 in merchandise.

Chief of Police Harry Anderson said the wire could have supported only a small man sliding down it from the roof to the floor of a connecting room.

Watches, chains, pens and other articles were stolen. No attempt was made to blow the safe where diamonds are kept. City, state motor police and county detectives were investigating.

State Farm Show Has 11,000 Entries

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—Pennsylvania's third annual State Farm show, one of the largest mid-winter agricultural exhibitions, in the United States, drew agricultural interests to the 10 acre farm show building today.

Chinaxing weeks of preparation, and grooming, farmers placed on display all their choice livestock and produce, trying for one of the 7,800 awards.

In addition, there will be shows and contests for state championships by the score as the rural youths compete for recognition and honor. Some 400,000 visitors are expected to inspect the exhibits and view the events during the five-day show.

Start Judging

Judging of the 11,000 entries began a short time after the doors opened, and before the end of the week cash prizes totaling $40,372 will have been distributed to the contestants.

First major item on today's program was ceremonies incident to breaking ground for the $1,200,000.

Missing Man's Body Is Found

Children Sledriding Along Highway, Find Samuel Foutz, Dead Along Butler Road

HAD BEEN GONE SINCE JANUARY 6

Missing since January 6, the body of Samuel Foutz, aged 80, who made his home with Earl Allison, of the Butler road, was discovered Sunday afternoon shortly before 3 o'clock by Donald and Rose Mary Allison, children of Earl Allison as they were sled-riding down the hill enroute to the home of Reed Armstrong, on Weller's Hill, just beyond Swan Lake, at Westmont.

Mr. Foutz is believed to have slipped on the ice and to have pitched head foremost into a catch basin, built alongside the roadside to break the fall of the water coming down the hillside. The catch basin, about four feet deep, was protected with a stone wall to keep automobiles from going down into it, which helped to hide the body from passersby, who would have been unable to see it unless they looked directly down into the ditch. Snow had later covered it over.

Death resulted from a probable fracture of the skull and exposure.

The children summoned Reed Armstrong.

First Pitched Battle Occurs In South China

Clash Is Reported In Vicinity Of Canton In Chinese War

CHINESE CLAIM GAINS IN NORTH

Reinforcements Are Rushed To Canton District By Chinese Leaders

BULLETIN
(International News Service)
SHANGHAI, Jan. 17.—The first pitched battle of the war to occur in south China will break out today near Canton as Chinese armies claimed major gains on two fronts in north China.

Supported by bombing airplanes and a barrage from warships, from 500 to 600 Japanese marines landed at the mouth of the Canton river, 32 miles from Canton.

Chinese reinforcements were speedily rushed to the scene in an attempt to repel the invaders.

At the same time Japanese warships bombarded Shantung, just north of the Portuguese colony of Macao.

Jap Positions Endangered

Endangering Japanese positions on the Yangtze river at Nanking and Wuhu, the central army of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today advanced on Wuhu in a major offensive south and west of Lake Tai.

Dispatches from Hankow, new seat of the Chinese government, reported recapture of Kwangshih, Suanchow, Lushui and Kaoshun. Chinese airplanes heavily bombarded Japanese concentrations.

Further quick advances by the famous eighth route army, former communist unit, were made along the broad front stretching from northwest Hanoi to points just south of Tientsin.

Town Changes Hands

Chinese army officials, however, admitted that the Japanese army in Shantung province again had wrested the important town of Tsinan from China after it had twice changed hands.

At Tsinan, a force of Japanese troops, building eastward managed to establish a link with the marines who last week captured the city bloodlessly.

To protect the 82 Americans there, the United States cruiser Marble

PA NEW OBSERVES

Traffic lights at Grant and Jefferson and Wallace and Jefferson streets were out of operation for a time last night. Pa News noted.

Residents of Browns Addition, South Side, complain that since the editor has gone forth that all dogs roaming around will be shot, some folks down there are nervous. During their prowling the nights are made hideous with barking and "yowling." Some persons on their way home late at night or early morning are occasionally annoyed by these "wanderers of the night," and that brings emphatic maledictions and threats against the latter, which makes matters worse for the would-be sleepers. It was suggested that the city officials put a dog-catcher on the night shift.

There was fine sled-riding down on the South Side Saturday. Groups moved themselves on Waldo and Leland streets. There was quite a crowd of young people crossing down the slope from Decker, across Calverton to Electric street. The location is one where there is a minimum of danger, having but little traffic, and the grade is moderate.

Farmers are evidently optimistic that spring is coming along according to schedule. Pa News saw several new tractors being driven through the streets, during the past week, evidently headed for farm destinations.

Million Lives Taken In Three Wars In Past Two Years Says Knickerbocker; World Menace Seen

(Editor's Note: The full horror of the three wars that have stalked civilization and taken a toll of 1,000,000 lives in the last two years is graphically described in the following article by H. R. Knickerbocker, Pulitzer prize winning correspondent of International News Service. It is the first in a series of twelve, prepared after a 12,500 mile journey from Shanghai to Paris to determine the lessons which for America in "The Yellow Typhoon and Red Sc" in Warnings.")

PARIS, Jan. 17.—One million men, women and children are dead. Ten million are refugees. Great centers of civilization are destroyed. Three continents have been visited by wars which during the last two years have accomplished colossal casualties and yet the western world is still asking:

"When will the great war come?"

Great War Is Upon Us.

A great war is upon us already. Abyssinia, Spain and now China are battlefields for the initial skirmishes of growing disaster.

In Spain, half a million have fallen or been butchered behind the lines. In Abyssinia, already forgotten, deaths among natives must by now have reached hundreds of thousands. In China the death-roll across a continent has in six months approached at least a half million.

In all three war-stricken countries the civilian population has suffered most of all and a figure of 10,000,000 refugees would be the barest minimum for a world which from our own vantage point still firmly declares it is at peace.

I have just circumscribed an area containing around 1,500,000,000 human beings—three-fourths of the population of the earth. From London to Shanghai by air is 10,000 miles. From Shanghai via Tokyo, Vladivostok and the trans-Siberian railway through Moscow and to Paris is 13,000 miles.

Within this circumference of 23,000 miles these three-fourths of the population of the earth are today shuddering under the impact of war.

Are We Safe?

America is the farthest away from it. Separated by two oceans from the initial skirmishes we believe we are the safest of all peoples. We are. But does that mean we are safe at all?

For the third time in three years I have come back from war—first Abyssinia, then Spain and now China. And I now am more than ever impressed by the fact that no nation is safe which is not able, with its own arms, to defend itself from aggression by those gangster nations which although comprising less than one-tenth the population of the earth nevertheless are determined to overpower, rob and subjugate the rest.

They can only hope so to do by overwhelming force of mechanical armaments. Japan with her 80 million is subjugating China's 450,000,000.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

INFANT QUESTIONS

QUESTION: My three-year-old girl keeps calling me back to her after she has gone to bed—for a drink of water, to ask a question, or to tell me something. This sometimes will continue over a period of an hour or more.

ANSWER: Tell her while she is dressing for bed tonight that she is a big girl now; that you are going to be busy tonight after she goes to bed, and that you are not coming back.

Then as she is being tucked in remind her of your plan again. Go through all the usual ministries. Then name them over one by one. "We—well, you know, and so on. Now is there anything else? Remember, I am not coming back." Then go and keep your word no matter how long or loudly she calls or cries. Let that be her privilege. The only problem you will have is to manage yourself.

If you have left the door ajar before, do so now. Otherwise close the door as you leave, and do it with decision.

You would not launch such a program, of course, if the child were likely to get out of bed and come to you. In that event continue as you have been doing on earlier evenings—go to her promptly when she calls. Continue doing so until you have trained her by day to stay where she is put, trained her in the unambiguous meaning of NO. You can easily do this training so much more easily during the day when you can have her in your view.

Is Quiet Necessary?

Q. Should one whisper or tip-toe about the house while the baby is asleep or after he has been put to bed?

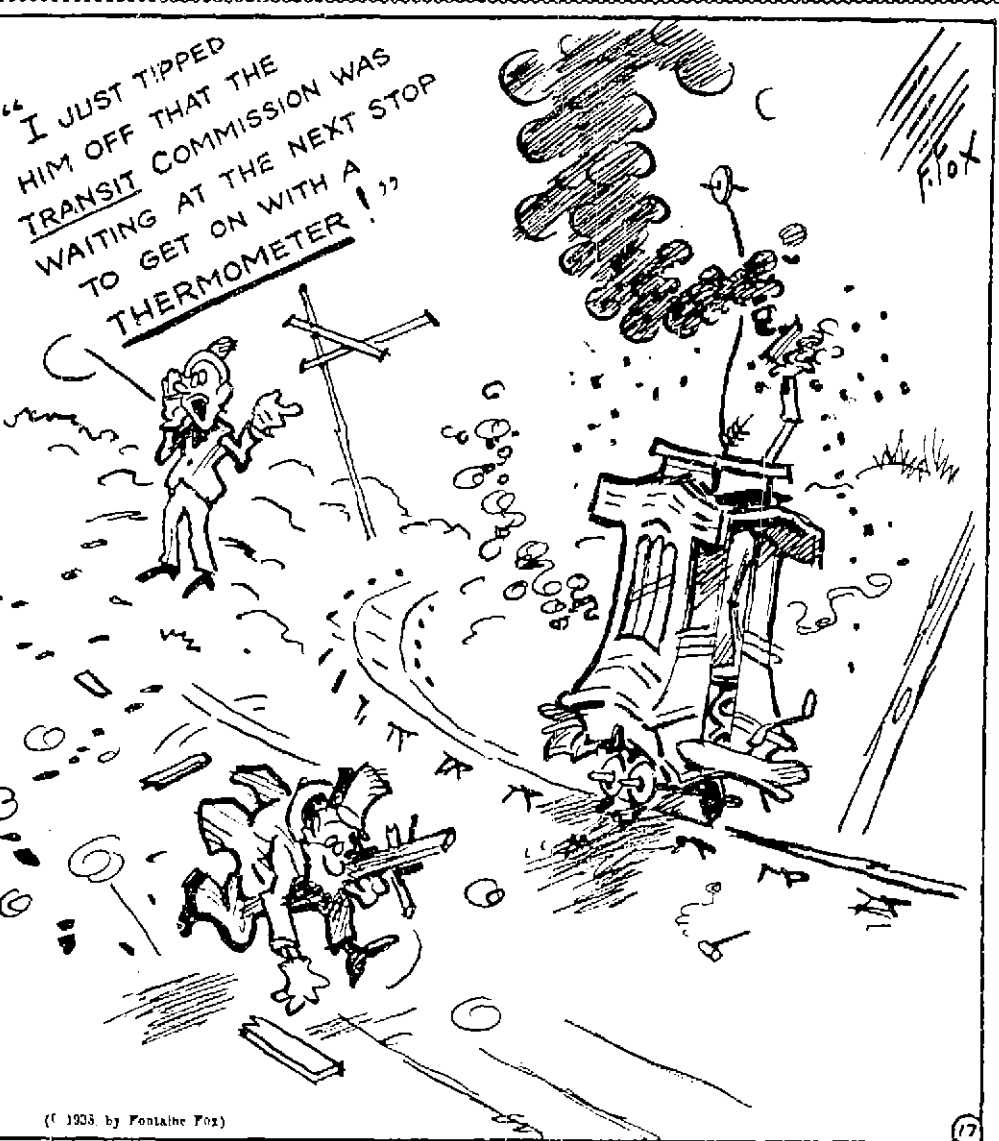

A. Certainly not. At such time speak and move about in a wholly normal fashion, and the infant soon will accustom himself to these noises.

Q. Suppose your child, while serving a sentence sitting in a chair for punishment, asks you to talk to you?

A. Talk to him as if nothing unusual had occurred, only refuse to argue about his punishment. No harm in carrying on a normal conversation with him then. The essential thing is for him to experience the restraint of having to stay there for the time assigned. But you should not let him have playthings there nor have the radio turned on.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:01. Sun rises tomorrow 7:19.

Zadock Dumbkopf occasionally has flashes of brilliance, his latest scheme being to establish a museum of true American antiques, the kind that flourished right here in our old home town years ago, antiques that most museums overlook. Included would be such priceless relics as the old high-top, buttoned yellow shoes the uncivilized musketeer wore, the high crowned police hat, of the days of our youth, mummies of extinct types of natives, such as the drug-store cowboy, the cigar store congressman. And why not? Lots of kids growing up today have never seen any of these things and probably never will, because no person ever thought to save them.

THAT'S MORE LIKE IT
Grumbler: Why, the sleeves of the coat are a mile too long.
Tailor: Well, how much shall I take off, sir?
Grumbler: Oh, about half an inch.

Some people's idea of marital bliss varies so much that it is no wonder people come into court seeking divorce. One day Chicago school teacher, charged that true love ran true for him; he demanded two eggs for breakfast. He claimed his wife bit him and she said he forced her to go around the house nude.

The north and south have similar problems, asserts a statesman. Especially in contrast bridge.

Brief synopsis of editorials in Missouri's newspapers: "Me and Japan. What a man!"

It's the end of a beautiful friendship when one reminds the other how much he has done for him.

"ROCKY" ROMANCE
He: Throwing stones into the water.
She: I'm just a little pebble in your life.

She: Then why not try being a little boulder?

One of the major problems left by 1937 for 1938 to solve is whether the Duke of Windsor will or will not visit us.

The public debt was only increased a matter of two billions, and eight hundred millions, in the last year, and the deficit at the end of the year was only six hundred and forty-five millions of dollars. Just a bagatelle to Mr. Roosevelt, but mighty important to future generations, who will wake up some day and realize what has happened to them when it is too late.

There's no danger of war. The government can have but one enemy at a time, and now it's busy hating business.

Still, simple democracy will look pretty good to the followers of others when it's the only thing not in ashes.

Americanism: Part of the government trying to preserve peace by discouraging attacks on Americans; another part telling the world it is safe to kick Americans around.

Let's not save any more down-trodden people from wicked aggressors till the last ones call us hard names.

Yes, wicked nations need punishing. But isn't it a little 'immodest' to assume that Providence has surrendered the job to us?

Progress of world opinion: (1838) "Americans are vulgar, dollar chasers." (1938) "America has an unfair share of the world's wealth."

Let's see. China is backward because the central government can't control military rulers; and Japan isn't responsible 'cause the army is out of control.

The World At A Glance

News Behind The News. Questions Are Answered. No Immediate Tax Reduction.

By LESLIE EICHER, Central Press Columnist. SOME QUESTIONS and some answers:

Will a wage and hour bill be passed? Probably A bill will be passed, but NOT THE BILL.

Which La Follette will be boosted for president—Senator Bob or Governor Phil? Senator Bob. He will have C. I. O. support.

Will the building trades be likely to come back in the spring? The best-informed people believe only if people see security ahead. That more than prices is the deterrent factor?

Doesn't the United States have an unusual number of bombing plane accidents? Not so many as other countries—England, in particular. More publicity is given here. Experiments cost lives.

Where is Germany getting wheat? A good quantity from Argentina, on a barter basis.

Can railroads be saved by merger? There is talk of a law to force mergers and elimination of wasteful competition. The chief obstacle lies in top-heavy securities. Many of these securities will have no real value. But they would have none in bankruptcy, either.

Are freight rates likely to be increased? Probably some—gradually. The Interstate Commerce Commission seems to be in an unhappy state of mind over this problem.

Why did congressmen vote against such a popular measure as the Ludlow price referendum? Because of administrative orders. It probably will mean some defeat in the autumn.

TAX REDUCTION? Is there likely to be a reduction on personal income tax before the March 15 report has to be filed? No. There can be no reduction in the total amount of taxes the government has to collect. Paradoxically, if business does not get better, the government will have to find more taxes somewhere.

What tax changes will there be? There probably will be certain reductions in corporation tax rates in some brackets and in the capital gains tax, but there is to be an added tax of 20 per cent on corporations on large, closely held corporations.

What effect will the large corn holdover have? The unusually large holdover indicates cheaper pork prices. That is the usual effect.

MONDAY, JAN. 17

Once Upon Jan. 17th—it is recorded that when a prophet told Flavius Valens, emperor of the eastern Roman empire from 364 to 378, A. D. he would be succeeded on the throne by a man whose name began with "Theo." Flavius ordered every inhabitant of the country whose name began with Theo to be put to death. But the prophecy was borne out, for Theodosius I came next to the throne.

It was unfortunate for a large body of mankind that Theodosius escaped the edict. For Theodosius it was who instituted the punishment of non-adherents of the constituted Christian church and thus launched the inquisition in which hundreds of thousands were to be executed in ensuing centuries. However, the first time the blood of a non-adherent was shed in accordance with the law, the Christian church was struck with terror at the act, and the bishop who ordered the so-called heretic punished was excommunicated and exiled. For his own cruelty to non-conformist Theodosians, Emperor Theodosius was excommunicated by St. Ambrose and forced to do penance. Theodosius died on this date, 395 A. D., aged 49 of dropsy.

WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCES

THE efforts of the administration to stimulate business are, in at least one respect, following a time-honored and familiar pattern. When there is a business slump the President of the United States, whether he be Hoover or Roosevelt, calls businessmen, bankers and industrialists into conference. What emerges from such conferences is sometimes much and sometimes little, sometimes permanent and sometimes fleeting.

The frequent and impending conferences between President Roosevelt and the world of business are predicated upon a real degree of co-operation. The deficit in the capital goods industries is obvious. The need for some understanding with the public utilities is obvious. The need to stimulate purchasing is obvious. There is no disagreement on what is required.

How far will the white house conference proceed toward meeting these vital national needs? What the president can do is to convince the world of business that there will be no further shocks and surprises. If business once becomes convinced of that, confidence will return.

A VETERAN WHO WON'T RETIRE

Carrie Chapman Catt is a "Mrs." is superficial identification for a woman of her wide recognition as a feminist celebrated her 70th birthday last week, and, like many persons who have passed three score and ten years, she has rules for longevity—proper physical care, a minimum of worry and proper interest in keeping alive.

Carrie Chapman Catt no longer has to picket for "woman's rights"; she has been more concerned in recent years to persuade women to utilize properly the freedom they have won.

It is a general hope over the country that she not only will reach eighty safely, but will carry a few decades longer. The woman she so strenuously helped "emancipate" haven't yet agreed on whether they want absolute "equality" with men or a little protective favoritism as to hours and conditions.

If Carrie Chapman Catt remains with us until that is settled, she can see some further startling progress by her sisters.

WHEN STRIKERS ARE LIABLE

It is important that there be a clear understanding of the point at issue in the judgment for damages against three score members of the Progressive Mine Workers and seven local unions, by the Federal District Court in East St. Louis, Illinois.

In requiring payment of $117,000 to a coal company for losses sustained during a three-year strike Judge Wham draws a clear distinction between the inalienable right to strike and a conspiracy to prevent production. His decision holds unions and their members responsible for losses caused by unlawful acts.

Mass picketing and violence were charged by the company. Judge Wham finds that striking employees are not liable for losses incurred by an employer due to the stoppage of operations, so long as they keep within the law. But he holds them liable for losses caused by illegal obstruction.

It is worth noting that this judge, a few years ago, refused an application from the same company for an injunction against striking employees on the ground that it had not made reasonable efforts to settle the dispute by negotiation, although he was afterward overruled by a higher court. The two decisions indicate a desire to hold true the scales of justice.

STEEL AS WE USE IT

The American Iron and Steel Institute asserts that modern civilization rests upon a base of steel in the form of countless articles in everyday use. That base weighs 94,000,000 tons, or nearly 17,000 pounds for every man, woman and child in the country. This is the estimate of the amount of steel in use at the present time in the United States. It is said to be the first ever made and it is based on estimation of steel production and consumption since the invention of the Bessemer process in 1856 brought the dawn of the modern steel industry.

Of course, we are all conscious of the fact that this is the Age of Steel. We know that steel is fabricated into unnumberable forms, ranging from great bridges and sky-reaching building down to watch springs and pins. Yet we may not appreciate that steel makes possible most of the necessities, conveniences and even luxuries of life in cities, towns and farms, in homes and in places of work. Such, at least, is the claim of the steel makers.

Included in the steel in use today is that in the 26,000,000 passenger automobiles and trucks in this country, in the sanitary cans on grocery and housewife's shelves; the steel bed springs, upholstery spring and in all the multitude of other products in which steel contributes directly and indirectly to the American standard of living.

Of course, all this has nothing to do with what are called problems of the day and to which much heavy thought is a vow. It is just one of those incidental bits of information on which general intelligence is built. On that basis we offer it here.

The older a little girl gets the more her candy eats.

Start Hearings On 44-Hour Week

To Settle Facts In Hearings
Upon Which Agreement
Was Not Reached

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—Fourteen cases of extended hearings, opening today, started off on another tack for an objective settling almost all Pennsylvania industry—determination of the validity of the new 44-hour week law.

Commonwealth attorneys and counsel for the Industrial Brotherhood manufacturing companies of Kane, Luzerne and Sullivan counties, were in Harrisburg for open hearings to settle facts upon which they failed to agree on the law. It was this "clearing-up" which was expected to be the first step in the state supreme court for a quick decision on constitutionality.

Regardless, the 44-hour week law is theoretically in effect.

James H. Houtz, head of the Kane firm, which brought the "test" case, was slated as the first of six or seven hearings to be presented for the company. How long the current hearing will run depends, counsel for both sides explained, upon how many witnesses and how much data is ready for presentation.

More than 500 firms have intervened in the applications for an injunction filed by the Kane firm early in December. The testimony they and the commonwealth present will be heard by Justice W. C. Shaffer, of Adams county. Sterling C. McNeely, Harrisburg, presents the Industrial Brotherhood. While Deputy Attorney General Edward Friedman, is appearing for the state.

In defense of the act, the department of labor and industry, with the aid of research experts headed by Leon Henderson, WPA consultant and former WPA official, has prepared an economic brief.

W. L. Mellons Facing Divorce

Testimony Shows That Two
Marriage Ceremonies Failed
To Keep Pair Together

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17.—Two marriage ceremonies couldn't keep the young W. L. Mellons together, according to testimony on record in divorce court here today. Mellon did not contest the suit.

Mrs. Grace Rowley Mellon testified she was first married in Wellsburg, W. Va., and then by the Rev. W. M. Woodin here. Hailed as a social event at the Mellon home, it was cancelled at the last minute because the couple announced they had already married. The second ceremony took place before a few friends.

Mrs. Mellon testified her husband came home one day, packed, and said he was through. Her reconciliation effort failed, she told Judge Joseph A. Richardson. She said her husband had made no provisions for her support, but said her father-in-law, W. L. Mellon, chairman of the board of Gulf Oil Corporation, had been "very kind."

Alleged Assassin Is Held By Police In Czechoslovakia

Marian Mustapic, Member Of Same Gang That Killed
King Alexander And Barthou

(International News Service)
PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 17.—Suspected of plotting the assassination of Premier Milan Stojadinovich of Yugoslavia, an alleged member of an international terrorist gang was under arrest today.

Police said the man, Marian Mustapic, belonged to the same group which four years ago engineered the murder of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Foreign Minister Barthou of France at Marseilles.

Mustapic was picked up as he tried to cross the frontier into Germany at Oderberg. Premier Stojadinovich had passed the same station Friday night on his visit to Reichstuehrer Adolf Hitler. Police said Mustapic had used forged passports.

FOKES READY GOING TO TOWN

The proportion of the U. S. population living on farms, once predominant, has declined until now 75 per cent of the people live in cities, towns and villages.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

Social and economic differences can never be leveled. God made the world that some should have five or four talents, whilst most have less and He endowed some lands with greater fertility and other some with greater chemical and mineral deposits. The American instinctively and unconsciously understands this. In the possession of real liberty he has sufficient amount of money and energy to correspondingly build himself either a shack or a barge with all that goes with it and then to content. Everybody needs his own business. Each one for himself and God for all of us.

Raze Walls Of Capitol Theater

Mooney Brothers Pulling Down Walls With Cable—One Side Wall Is Removed

Rapid progress is being made by Mooney Brothers in razing the front walls of the old Capitol Theater Building, which were left standing when the city destroyed the building several years ago.

The front walls, in modern construction, were not pulled down when the old ruins of the rest of the building were removed. It required considerable pulling to get the one side wall down this morning, the said back and front walls withstanding considerable stress before collapsing.

Steel cables were attached to the top of the wall and the action was commenced, after which the cable was pulled until by a big gasoline operated crane the work is being continued this afternoon.

All Sino-Japanese Peace Negotiations Have 'Entirely Ceased'

See No Prospect Of Resumption

Relations Between Japan And Chiang Regime Are Practically Broken Off

WAR DECLARATION DEMAND IN JAPAN

TOKYO, Jan. 17.—All Sino-Japanese peace negotiations have "entirely ceased," the foreign office spokesman said today.

Dispatches from the temporary Chinese capital at Hankow at the same time indicated that there was no prospect of resuming peace discussions.

China maintains that she is ready and willing to discuss a cessation of hostilities, but peace is impossible unless Japan respects China's territorial integrity.

On the other hand the foreign office spokesman said peace negotiations could be proposed only in the event that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek "sincerely reconsiders his attitude," which at the moment appears unlikely.

Relations Broken Off

As the result of a government declaration yesterday, relations between Japan and the Chiang regime have been practically broken off. Hope that a new rule in China would be established with which co-operation could be expected, was expressed.

A movement to organize a new Chinese government, probably to be inaugurated in March under the leadership of General Chiang Kai-Shek, who was premier of China in 1919, already is under way.

Immediate declaration of war on China was demanded today in a resolution adopted by the association of the members of the house of representatives interested in China, which includes a majority of the members.

Girl Has Crossed Equator 7 Times

Twelve-Year-Old Has Record—Ambition Is To Make Trip To Europe

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17.—She doesn't look old enough to have been away from home many times, but actually little 12-year-old Joyce Aiken has crossed the equator seven times.

But even so, she has never fulfilled her ambition: To visit Europe! The little lass claims to be four feet tall, but looks a foot less, wears a feather in her hat that is almost as tall as she, and sits on several cushions so that she will be high enough to carry on a conversation.

Born in South America, she first visited New Zealand when she was only nine months old. At the age of two she moved to West Virginia, then Pittsburgh, Cuba, New Zealand again, Vancouver, Baltimore, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City, New Zealand once again, Ohio, and finally Pittsburgh—for the time being anyway.

At least that's the order Joyce remembers them in, and she's pretty sure she's going to stay right here for awhile, if her father's business doesn't call her away again.

In keeping with her travels, her

Taxidermists Few In New York

One New Yorker Creating Bronze Models Of Living American Animals

TED HUSING IS READY TO QUIT

By O. O. MINTYRE
NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Daisy: An avalanche of oranges, grapefruit and tangerines from Billy De Beck, the Ryley Coopers, D. W. Griffith, James Woods, Paul Whiteman and Laddie Peabody. And J. P. McEvoy sent his new book, "Father Meets Son," pleasantly inscribed. Chester Marsh to a late breakfast. Typing and a publisher asked me to select for an anthology the

O. O. McIntyre American poem best remembered. My instant choice was James Whitcomb Riley's "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin." So in stitches over an hilarious self-drawn portrait from the dour Theodore Dreiser.

Abroad with my wife to a public and talking to the dazzling Lorraine Manville and met her new good-looking Holland husband, Mr. Dresselhuys. And spoke to Lucius Beebe there in white-tie elegance on way to the play. Also Beth Leary, the girl everybody knows, and her constant companion, Mrs. Jas. Farley.

A most ambitious exponent of a vanishing art is John Murgatroyd, who practices taxidermy in the serene St. James section of Brooklyn. At 73 he is still turning out special and sculptural models. And determined to quit only when he has created in bronze models of all living American animals. He has stuffed exhibits for Martin Johnson and many big game hunters. Among his patrons have been Theodore Roosevelt, Elihu Root, Cornelius Vanderbilt and Harry Payne Whitney.

The first of the radio announcers to make a stake whopping enough to retire is reputedly Ted Husing. According to the reliable Variety, the lean young fellow whose voice has been heard broadcasting most big football games is ready to call it a day. He may return to the microphone later or may pursue another calling but at the moment he just wants to get away, high ho, from it all. Graham McNamee is another weary with the grind and is taking on no more program commitments. The radio artist we should like to see retire before long—although we enjoy his artistry—is Rudy Vallee. He deserves to ease up and fiddle a little before it is time for the chimney corner.

The chorus man is almost extinct. There are no longer professionals listed at the agencies because of so few calls. In peak years of the theatre, there were 5,000. Many stars and featured players have come out of the comparatively lowly rank. Oscar Shaw and Jack Whiting are conspicuous examples. The average chorus man was a complex person living a bleak life away from footlights. He was invariably a meticulous dresser and being handsome was, of course, essential. He rarely indulged humanity's minor vices and had little interest in the ladies. Due to his small emolument—from $35 to $50 a week about six months of the year—he lived in shabby rooming houses and ate mostly in automobiles.

When I was article to Ziegfeld, especially during the triumphal days of Marilyn Miller, I saw much of the chorus man. Ziegfeld was a Simon Lapree toward most professionals—especially the high priced—but had a soft spot somewhere for gentlemen of the ensemble. He would talk pleasantly to them, whereas his contacts with other more fortunate members of the cast were snarly. Incidentally, the prodigality of stage folk was strikingly illustrated in the settlement of Marilyn Miller's estate. Several years ago before her passing and when she had seen best professional days she made a will for her fortune far in excess of a half million. But at her death, save for a small annuity for her mother, she was broke.

Thingumbobs: The Philippine's Manuel Quezon has a germ phobia. Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese diplomat, tunes in Amos n Andy... Abel Green, Variety editor, writes notes in French to his friends just to keep in practice... A high school play that Meredith Nicholson wrote still brings him royalties.

All my life I've had a terror of policemen. Today, scanning a fresh edition along the street, I bumped into one. I expected to be clubbed silly and thrown into a patrol wagon. Instead he smiled, stood pleasantly chatting awhile and finally began to tell me a joke he had just heard. At which I roared and fairly screamed with mirth. So much so, passersby stopped to gawk. I never realized until a block away that I was hysterical.

Rolling And Tossing In Sleep Sign Of Restful Slumber Says Physician

(International News Service)
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 17.—Rolling and tossing in your sleep is a sign you are "sleeping like a log," Dr. C. Keith Barnes, University of New Mexico physician and faculty member of the physical education department of the university, declared.

"Restless sleepers are often restful sleepers," Dr. Barnes said. Lying on one side pulls certain muscles taut and relaxes others according to Dr. Barnes. When the taut muscles reach a certain point of fatigue the sleeper automatically rolls over and gives them a chance to rest.

Which Side To Be On
Lying on the left side causes the heart to pound against the ribs and sometimes disturbs a sleeper or a sleep attempted, he continued, but when the sleeper rolls over on his right side, the beating heart is cushioned on the lung, and better rest may be obtained.

All these adjustment made unconsciously during sleep make the soundest sleeper appear to be restless and tossing uneasily. But they are merely signs of a "good night's rest."

The university doctor did not recommend "sheep counting" as a means of wooing sweet dreams. Better, he said, drink a glass of warm milk and eat a piece of toast.

This will bring the blood from the head to the abdomen, dilating the blood vessels in the abdomen and skin and causing a warm comfortable glow conducive to sleep.

Mails Will Carry Checks To Jobless

Unemployment Compensation Benefits Go Out From Harrisburg

Eligible workers whose claims for unemployment compensation benefits are found to be valid will receive their benefit checks through the mail, Ralph M. Bashore, secretary of labor and industry and administrator of the unemployment compensation law said today.

"Although claims for benefits are to be filed in the local employment office and these offices will seek new work for applicants, the payment of benefits will be handled only in the central office at Harrisburg, and the checks will be mailed directly to the eligible applicants," announced Mr. Bashore.

Daily transcripts and records of benefits paid will be forwarded to the local state employment office, where

Judge James To Enter Race It Is Expected

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—Superior Court Judge Arthur H. James, of Luzerne county, probably will announce his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination within a week, it was reliably reported here today.

The James candidacy would come as the GOP organization's answer to the bid of former Gov. Gifford Pinchot for a third term as chief executive. And as such, Republican leaders reportedly are of the opinion that the sooner announced the better will be their "Stop Pinchot" movement.

Pinchot, who used his familiar campaign hat into the ring one week ago today, has been busy lining up support from his Philadelphia headquarters. To backing in his home section of Pike County and other scattered areas, he hoped this week to add some western Pennsylvania strength.

The term "china-ware" became popular during the seventeenth century, being used to describe porcelain brought from China.

Ellwood High Seniors Hear Baccalaureate

Ellwood High Seniors Hear Baccalaureate

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 17.—You'll never rise above your aim in life, was one of the challenging statements addressed to the graduating seniors of the Ellwood City high school by Rev. W. E. Minter, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, during the baccalaureate services held Sunday night in Lincoln auditorium.

Minter's message was a timely one, for the seniors are about to enter the world of work and life. He urged them to set high goals and to strive for excellence.

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 17.—A wedding of interest to many in this city occurred on Saturday morning at 11:45 o'clock, when Miss Clysta Dambach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hollenbach, of Route 7, and William Hollenbach, of Wiley Hill, were united in marriage.

The ceremony was performed at the parsonage of the Emmanuel Reformed church with the Rev. A. M. May performing the single rite in the presence of the immediate families of the couple.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of Royal blue crepe with gold accessories and she wore a shoulder corsage of roses.

Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Hollenbach, of Wiley Hill, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, entertained at a wedding dinner at their home for the couple and the immediate families. Bridal appointments were effectively used in the decorations.

Mrs. Hollenbach has been employed by the Humphrey law firm of this city and the bride's room is complete in every detail and modern in every respect.

SMALL FIRE

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 17.—The local fire department was called to the Wayne Thomas residence, 109 Franklin avenue, this morning. A small shed in the rear of the home burned. The damage was slight.

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 17.—Still unable to get back into the victory column both Ellwood City entrants in the National Junior Saxon league dropped their Saturday night games to their Canton, O., rivals at the latter city.

In the girls' game, with the final score being 25 to 15, "Roe" Segedi, from whom so much is always expected and who invariably is the high scorer in the eastern division, has been in a three-game slump.

Although playing against a tall rangy, more experienced quintet, the locals were given quite a hand by the home-town rooters for their grand stand.

As per usual, the great Lutsch, captain of the Canton boys, lived up to his reputation of "point a minute" to again easily be top scorer for the Cantonites, ably assisted by his cohort of six-foot teammates.

To defeat the Ellwoods boys by a score of 46 to 36.

Lutsch is the big scorer this year in the entire league, being trailed by "Zeki" Zickel, local star forward, according to statistics just released.

Incidentally, "Roe" Segedi of the local girls' entry is runner up in the division scoring.

The lanky winners were given plenty of trouble by the local sons, who were leading at the first and third periods. As the game progressed, "Zeki" Flischer was banished from the game via the personnel foul route after playing an exceptional fine defensive game.

A banquet and dance followed the games at the Canton Saxon club.

Next Saturday night the local boys will travel to Cleveland West for a league game. The girls are not expected to make the trip, owing to Cleveland's inability to present an eligible squad.

Is Well Received

A group of young people from the drama department of Allegheny college, under the direction of Dr. John L. Hubert, presented the temperance play "The Whirlwind" in Epworth church last night to a congregation that crowded the large auditorium of the church.

The play was very well presented, giving in a most dramatic form what is all too often the result of the use of alcohol as a beverage. From breathless attention during the play, and the many comments of approval, the audience there was no doubt left as to how the play was received.

Paving Is Requested On 40 Streets In City

If possible, a large paving program will be put through by the city and WPA here this year, petitions and requests having asked that 40 thoroughfares be improved.

Plans and specifications have been made for a majority of these thoroughfares. The city and the WPA have approved the C program but approval of the D program must yet be secured.

In 1935, five thoroughfares were paved. In 1936, 10 thoroughfares were paved completely and only a brief time will be required this spring to complete paving of three other B program thoroughfares.

As soon as the finishing touches, such as changing the curb and putting down a black top is completed on the three thoroughfares on the B program the city and WPA will go to work on the C program.

Euclid Avenue On Program There are nine thoroughfares on the C program; and among them is Euclid avenue between Mercer street and Highland avenue. George Washington junior high school is situated on Euclid avenue.

It is likely that some of these days council will approve the petitions for the streets on the D program and ask similar approval by the WPA after which work will start.

There are 31 streets on the D program which may be divided into D and E programs. It is not known exactly at this time whether the city will be able to pave North Jefferson street between Wilmington avenue and the city line.

A study is being made to determine if it will be necessary to construct a storm sewer in that thoroughfare. If such necessity arises it will have a bearing on whether or not the thoroughfare will be paved this year.

The order in which the petitions and requests and the thoroughfares where paving is desired are as follows:

C Program

Park avenue between Mercer street and end of present paving.

Friendship street between Pollock avenue and South Mill street.

Home street between Pollock avenue and South Mill street.

Reynolds street between Scioto street and Pollock avenue.

Edison avenue between Mercer street and Blaine street.

Euclid avenue between Mercer street and Highland avenue.

Euclid avenue between Highland and Delaware avenues.

Laurel avenue between Wilmington and Highland avenues.

Falls street between Elm and Shenango streets.

D Program

Clenmore boulevard between Mercer street and Highland avenue.

South Jefferson street between Miller avenue and Balph avenue.

Hanna street between Balph avenue and Sharp street.

Lutton street between Mercer and Moravia streets.

Cunningham avenue between Lutton and Allen streets.

Rose avenue between Washington street and Stanton avenue.

Bochs avenue between Blaine street and Highland avenue.

Morris street between Sharp street and Balph avenue.

Edison avenue between Wilmington avenue and Mercer street.

Northview avenue between Carlisle and Albert streets.

Hillcrest avenue between Mercer street and Albert street.

Blaine street between Wallace avenue and Boyles avenues.

Electric street between Hamilton and Grimes streets.

Delaware avenue between Hillcrest avenue and Edgewood avenue.

Eric avenue between Walnut street and Crawford avenue.

Grant street between Highland avenue and East street.

Logan street between Boyles and Moody avenues.

Hillcrest avenue between Delaware and Andley avenues.

Northview avenue between Highland and Delaware avenues.

Garfield avenue between Delaware avenue and Neshannock boulevard.

North Jefferson street between Wilmington avenue and the city line.

Summer avenue between Highland and Delaware avenues.

Etna street between Smithfield street and Atlantic avenue.

Bluff street between Etna street and the city line.

Elizabeth street between Highland and Delaware avenues.

Waldo street between Grimes street and Belmont avenue.

Reynolds street between William street and Cunningham avenue.

Temple avenue between Washington street and Stanton avenue.

Electric street between Grimes street and Belmont avenue.

Huron avenue between Arlington and Frank avenues.

Sheridan avenue between Wilmington avenue and Locust street.

BIRTHDAY HONORED

Mrs. John Miller of the Princeton road entertained about 16 little guests in her home on Thursday evening in honor of the sixth birthday of her little daughter, Mary Lou. Games and fun were enjoyed by all, after which time Mrs. Miller, assisted by her sister, served a dainty repast with a color tone of red and white being carried out.

DINNER PARTY

Mrs. I. A. Lytle of Albion avenue entertained the members of the E. N. C. club to a six o'clock dinner on Thursday evening. Her table appointments were carried out in yellow and white tones, with a bouquet of yellow flowers forming an attractive centerpiece. The hostess was assisted in serving by her daughters, Margaret McCowin and Clara Lytle.

A business meeting was called, with Mrs. Clyde Turner, president, in charge. Mrs. I. A. Lytle and Mrs. C. Wilkinson directed a treasure hunt and other games. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. R. J. Fredricks, Mrs. Clyde Turner, Mrs. H. A. Anderson. On January 27 Mrs. Clarence Johnson will receive members at a one o'clock luncheon.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. T. E. Sweet, Butler road, gave a delightful birthday party in honor of her little son, Allen Eugene. Between the hours of two to four about 16 little guests were entertained with games. Edward McCowin was awarded a prize and much fun was enjoyed by all, after which time each was given a small token in remembrance of the day. The guests were then invited to the dining room, where a birthday cake was lighted with seven candles, with each guest also having an individual lighted cake. Color tones of red and white were carried out. The honored guest was then presented with many lovely and useful gifts.

P. T. A. MEETING

The Shenango Parent and Teacher association will hold their monthly meeting on Monday evening, Jan. 17, at eight o'clock. A special program of music entertainment has been arranged.

R. W. CLASS MEETING

Mrs. Harvey Ketzler and Mrs. Jessie Karki entertained the members of their Sunday school class on Thursday evening at their regular monthly meeting. A short business meeting was held. The name of the class was changed from Busy Bees to the R. W. class.

EAST NEW CASTLE NOTES

Scouts To Take Charge Of City

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 17—For one day, February 12, Boy Scouts will take over the city government of Franklin and conduct the work of the various departments, from mayor to fire chief. Plans for the "transfer" of authority have been worked out, and two nominating committees representing the Scout troops met and completed two separate slates of candidates for the elective offices.

As soon as the party platforms and names have been chosen, the identity of the candidates will then be revealed.
